

IN TOO MUCH OF A HURRY

Man's Delight in Getting Rid of Tight Shoes Tempered by Unpleasant Discovery.

A man with that peculiarly agonizing expression which indicates corns came bounding through the gates at the Broad street station not long ago, and caught the rear platform of the through express for the north just as it began to gather headway, says the Philadelphia Press. He limped into the car and dropped into a seat.

"Oh, Lord," he groaned, and commenced tugging at a shoe. "You'll have to excuse me," he continued to the rightful occupant of that particular section, "but I've just got to get these tight shoes off. I just had time to rush into a store on my way to the station and get another pair—didn't have time to try them on, but I wear only sevens, and I told the clerk I wanted tens."

By this time two glaring white socks were exposed to view. With a sigh of relief, the man hurled the despised tight shoes out of the car window and reached for the box containing the new ones.

"Great Scott!" he gasped, as he viewed his purchase, "that idiot has given me tens, children's size!"

A GOOD REASON.

Thin Chapple—I haven't seen you running about after that fair-haired girl lately. What's the reason, old fellow?

Stout Chapple—Oh, eh! Well—eh!—she's my wife now, you see.

BY RAIL TO FORBIDDEN CITY.

A railway from Damascus to Mecca, connecting the forbidden holy city of the Mohammedans with the outside world, will be, perhaps, the most picturesque achievement of the world during the year 1907. Already this line is completed as far as Medina, the second holy city of the followers of Islam, and the end is in sight. While the line is built under direct order from the sultan, and while it is intended exclusively for the use of Mohammedans, especially for the convenience of pilgrims to Mecca at the time of the great annual pilgrimage, it will undoubtedly be patronized by European tourists, and it seems only a question of time before Mecca, the last of the forbidden cities, now that access has been opened will be free of access to the eyes of every nationality and religion.

THE BACKWOODS LIMITED.

"What is all the excitement?" asked Uncle Jason Hardapple as he entered the Chicago skyscraper.

"Why," replied a big broker, "we are kicking about the 18-hour train."

"Do tell! Why, that is just what the folks down in Bacon Ridge were kicking about when I came away."

"What? Do you mean to say you have an 18-hour train down in that out-of-the-way place?"

"Certainly, neighbor."

"And you are kicking because it goes too fast?"

"No, we are kicking because it goes too slow! You see, it takes 18 hours to make 50 miles."

THE RETORT.

"Huh!" snorted Kadeley, who had recently come in for his uncle's money, "that suit of yours looks like a hand-me-down."

"Think so?" replied Porley. "By the way, why does every one speak so scornfully of a hand-me-down?"

"Well, do you suppose a hand-me-down is at all creditable to a fellow?"

"No; not even a hand-me-down suit."—Philadelphia Press.
